HOW OLD PEOPLE

May Prolong Their Lives

At an advanced age waste is more rapid than repair. The organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth. The circulation is poor, the blood thin and watery, the appetite poor and digestion weak.

We want to say to every aged person in this vicinity that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) will prolong life. It creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes good blood. In this natural manner Vinol retards waste and replaces weakness with strength, giving new life to the worn system.

If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

Grade Crossings Bill.

Governor Wilson's veto of the grade crossings bills, passed by the New Jersey Legislature, recalls the action of Governor Hughes of New York upon the two-cent fare bill a few years ago as well as that of Governor Cleveland in 1883 in his veto of the bill reducing fares on the elevated roads in New York city.

The railroad grade crossings bill was recognized as a severe anti-railroad measure. It imposed upon the roads the whole expense of eliminating grade crossings throughout the State, the cost of which work was estimated at $250,000,000. The bill ran counter to the practice hitherto followed in New York, Ohio and other States, of dividing the cost of removal between State, municipalities and railroad.

When Hughes was governor of New York he consistently favored reform legislation, whether aimed at corporations or at political machines, and when the two-cent fare bill was passed his opponents thought it would put him "in a hole," to use a familiar phrase. They thought he would offend a powerful element by approving it and that, if he refused to approve it, he would be denounced by the radical element as a "reactionary."

He promptly vetoed the bill, and gave as his reason that the Public Service Commission, recently come into existence, had been created by the Legislature to investigate thoroughly and decide upon just such questions as the reduction of fares to two cents a mile. The governor's reason was accepted as sensible, and it was not apparent that he ever lost any popularity as a result of the veto.

The situation with Governor Wilson is similar. He has been free with his criticism of the "interests," and has been hailed everywhere as a "progressive." It might be expected that in the present political situation he would find it distasteful to place his official disapproval upon an anti-railroad measure. But he evidently decided to go on record against the passage of sweeping anti-railroad legislation drafted without careful investigation. From the reception met by the veto of so-called "popular" measures by Cleveland and Hughes, it may be predicted that Governor Wilson's veto will not stir up any dangerous opposition.

Montclair Academy Notes.
Over one hundred guests enjoyed the twenty-fifth anniversary alumni banquet of the Montclair Academy held at the Hotel Martineau last evening. The speakers of the evening were the Honorable William McCarroll, ex-public service commissioner; Fred I. Kent, first vice-president Bankers' Trust Company; Headmaster Walter R. Marsh, St. Paul's School, Long Island; George G. Bradley, alumnus, and Headmaster John G. MacVicar, Montclair Academy. Rev. George G. Russell '95, president of the association, acted as toastmaster.

On behalf of the toastmaster, Rev. George J. Russell, D.D., presented a beautiful silver loving cup to Mr. John G. MacVicar who expressed in suitable words his deep appreciation of this token of affection.

Mr. MacVicar referred to the cordial support the academy has enjoyed, not simply from those having sons in the school, but from a host of other friends in the community, and to the fact that the kindly feeling has decidedly increased in recent years.

The announcement that a new charter had been secured and that the property would be immediately transferred to a board of trustees came as a surprise to the alumni. They greeted with enthusiasm the change and expressed themselves as anxious and willing to assume the responsibility of cherishing and building up the interests of the old academy.

The board of trustees are men especially interested in education and they are well known in Montclair and throughout the State: Mr. Edwin A. Bradley, Montclair; Judge Charles C. Black, Jersey City; Mr. James N. Jarvie, Montclair; Mr. Frederick I. Kent, Montclair; Professor Robert H. Fife, Jr., Middletown, Conn.; Mr. Randolph C. Barrett, Bloomfield; Mr. John G. MacVicar, Montclair. The new board will take immediate control. Mr. John G. MacVicar will continue his services as headmaster and there will be no change in the policy or management of the school.

Potato Growing.

F. R. Stevens, Lehigh Valley Railroad agriculturist, in one of the weekly letters to farmers writes this about potato growing:

"To this end we might borrow a few hints from the State of Maine, where the potato is the money-making crop. The average yield per acre of potatoes in New York and Pennsylvania is 77 bushels, while the average yield in Maine is 225 bushels. The soil and climate in this famous potato State are but little better adapted to this particular crop than the soil and climate in New York and Pennsylvania; the difference in average yield is due principally to the difference in cultural methods employed.

"We have proved at our State Experiment Station and on the farms throughout New York and Pennsylvania that spraying to prevent the ravages of insects and fungous diseases will greatly increase the yield per acre. Experiments carried on for the past ten years by the New York State Experiment Station show that spraying increased the average yield per acre 97% bushels, and that the net profit per acre was increased $14.42. It is evident from these figures that, had spraying been practised by every potato grower in these two States, the average yield would have been 174 bushels per acre, instead of 77.

Boy Scout News.

One of the most interesting and exciting scout basketball games of the season was played between troop No. 2 and troop No. 5 at the Jarvie Memorial gymnasium last Saturday evening. It was a close game throughout, and marked by some good thrilling plays. Troop 5 won by a close score of 15 to 12. This makes one game for each team, and a deciding contest is now being arranged. Mr. Carter of troop No. 2 was the referee, and Mr. Snyder of troop No. 5, the time and score keeper. The positions of the players were as follows:

C. Davis, R. E. P., A. Fish, R. Vreeland, L. F., R. Harris, R. Johnson, C. Center, C. Simmons, D. Conklin, L. G., T. Rice, L. Dorothy, R. G., P. Moore. Last Monday afternoon the King Snake patrol of troop No. 5 held a cake and candy sale at the Centre School and a neat sum was realized. The members of this patrol wish to thank the ladies who rendered their services and all who helped to make this affair successful.

A great scout rally and demonstration will be held in Military Park, Newark, this afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp. Every troop in Newark (about 50) is expected to take part. Many of the out-of-town troops, Orange, Montclair, Arlington, etc., have expressed a desire to help. This town will be well represented.

There will be exhibits of all the various scout activities, and music by a drum corps and a scout brass band. The various troops will be reviewed and addressed by Mayor Haussling, Governor Wilson, James E. West, chief scout executive, and others have been invited to be present. All troops, as far as possible, should be in full scout uniform, and carry their troop and patrol flags, but scouts not in uniform are invited to take part in the exhibits.

It will be in reality like the great demonstration given in New York recently in honor of Baden-Powell, the founder of the scout movement. Scoutmasters should communicate with headquarters as to the nature of the demonstration which their troops will give. It will be a great day for the scouts of Northern New Jersey, and every true scout is invited to take part.

A meeting for the scoutmasters and one patrol leader from each troop to make final arrangements is to be held at the Newark Y. M. C. A. on Monday, April 15, at 8 o'clock P. M. All scoutmasters are urged to be present.

"Newark Boys," a monthly scout paper for April, is out and contains some interesting troop news; copies can be obtained from Commissioner Snyder at one cent each.

A meeting of captains and managers from the various local troops met Tuesday evening at the council rooms and prepared a baseball schedule for the coming season. A complete list of games will be printed next week. Boys, don't forget to get on the job and win the trophy for your troop; get out on the field and practise at once. Scouts that are not on the teams are requested to get their lungs in condition to do some shouting and rooting for their team.

Newark Industrial Exposition.
Newark claims that its coming exposition will be the greatest civic event in the United States this year. It will be opened by President Taft and will continue from May 13 to 25 under the auspices of the Board of Trade.

The exhibitors include the manufacturers of the Newark industrial district, and many companies that will be represented are the leaders of their kind in the world.

In conjunction with the preparation for the display there is being conducted a national advertising campaign, designed to give publicity to the exposition and make known to the country at large the opportunities offered by Newark as a city in which to live and do business.

Among the interesting features of the Newark Exposition will be a large number of live exhibits, and a great variety of modern machinery will be seen in constant operation.

A pretentious decorating and lighting scheme is being devised to enhance the beauty of the exhibition building and grounds.

Sent to House of Detention.
After spending two days and a night in the East Orange police station, while his father, Frank Ziones of 101 Franklin avenue, this town, sought $200 bail for him, fourteen-year-old Samuel Ziones was sent to the House of Detention Saturday. He admitted he was not seventeen years old. When arrested Wednesday young Ziones assured the police that he was seventeen, although he looked scarcely the fourteen years he now says he is. He gave the year of his birth glibly and said he could prove it by papers he had at home.

Young Ziones was sent on an errand by his employers, the Crocker-Wheeler Company, with $7. He took the $7 and a bicycle belonging to another boy and made a trip to Albany, selling the wheel for $5 in the meantime. When he got back he was arrested.

The boy declared he had misrepresented his age originally at the instance of his parents, who knew he would be unable to get work if he said he was only fourteen.
